

Contents

List of Illustrations	viii
Writing on Hyacinths: A Prelude	xi
Acknowledgments	xvii
1 Published Virtues of the Earth: An Introduction	1
2 The Bookish Nature of Botanical Culture: Continental Contexts	13
Botanical Renaissance: A Potted History	15
Words and Things in Humanist Herbalism	17
Botany by the Book	20
Botanical Gardens in Book Form: The Herbaria	28
3 Botanical Reformation in William Turner's Books of Nature	39
Biographical Contexts	41
Anthological Botany	46
Turner's Reforms: Naming and Translating	49
What's in a Name? Truth, Falsity, and Fiction	58
4 John Gerard's Uncommon Ground	69
The Garden Grows: From Catalogue to Herbal	71
The Anthology of Nature: Gerard's Herbal Authorship	75
Botanical Poetics and the Rhetoric of Description	83
Imaginary Gardens: Poets as Herbalists	99
5 Domesticated Plants and Domesticating Books: Cultivating
Household Textual Collection	111
The Place of Books	113
The Place of Plants	115
Gallery and Paradise	119
Stillroom and Study	124
Posies Transposed	129
Epilogue	133
Bibliography	135
Index	153